Working Session I: Transnational threats and challenges

An impressive array of important decisions have been adopted in recent years, such as “OSCE Border Security and Management Concept” (Ministerial Council Document No. 2/05) and those covering OSCE efforts to address transnational threats (Ministerial Council Decisions Nos. 9/11 and 4/12), “OSCE Strategic Framework for Police-Related Activities” (Permanent Council Decision No. 1049), “OSCE Concept for Combating the Threat of Illicit Drugs and the Diversion of Chemical Precursors” (Permanent Council Decision No. 1048) as well as the “OSCE Consolidated Framework for the Fight against Terrorism” (Permanent Council Decision No. 1063) and “Development of Confidence-Building Measures to Reduce the Risks of Conflict Stemming from the Use of Information and Communication Technologies” (Permanent Council Decision No. 1039). Given that the focus now and in the near future is on practical implementation of these decisions and on translating the political commitments agreed by the participating States in these decisions into concrete, effective and sustainable programmatic action, this session is an opportunity to share views and to make a joint analysis of transnational threats and challenges to the OSCE participating States, to review existing tools the Organization has to address these challenges, to take stock of progress made, and to identify where further work on common responses is needed, including in co-operation with other relevant international and regional organizations and enhanced monitoring and evaluation of the OSCE’s programmatic efforts.

Border-related issues, which often have a direct impact on countering transnational threats, including those of a cross-dimensional nature, deserve particular attention. The implementation of the OSCE Border Security and Management Concept (2005) could be assessed during the session, bearing in mind potential threats and challenges that may appear, inter alia, with the transfer of responsibility for internal security in Afghanistan to its national authorities beyond 2014.
