Financing of IACA

In accordance with IACA's Policy on Contributions

ARTICLE XI

1. Notwithstanding the long-term goal to make the Academy self-sustainable, the resources of the Academy include the following:

- (a) voluntary contributions by the Parties to this Agreement;
- (b) voluntary contributions from the private sector and other donors;
- (c) tuition fees, training workshop and technical assistance fees, publication and other service revenue;
- (d) income accruing from such contributions, fees, revenue and other income including from trusts and endowments.

Becoming Party

"The Agreement shall enter into force for the respective State or International Organization sixty days after the date of deposit of its instrument of ratification, acceptance, or approval." (Art XVIII para 4)

→ Signatories: ratify the Agreement and deposit the instrument of ratification with the Depositary at the earliest convenience.

→ As of 1 January 2011, States and International Organizations which have not signed the Agreement may subsequently accede thereto, which requires the deposit of its instrument of accession with the Depositary of the Agreement, namely the Federal Minister for European and International Affairs of the Republic of Austria.

"The launch of the International Anti-Corruption Academy is a milestone in the efforts of the international community to fight corruption. It has great potential to advance the goals of the landmark United Nations Convention against Corruption. If we are serious about tackling corruption, we will use the Academy to the fullest. I pledge my full support to the Academy, and urge you all to do your part."
