Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (1979) and its optional protocol (2000)	The Convention provides the basis for realizing equality between women and men through ensuring women's equal access to, and equal opportunities in, political and public life - including the right to vote and to stand for election - as well as education, health and employment. States parties agree to take all appropriate measures, including legislative and temporary special measures, so that women can enjoy all their human rights and fundamental freedoms. Through the Optional Protocol, a State recognizes the competence of the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women - the body that monitors States parties' compliance with the Convention - to receive and consider complaints from individuals or groups within its jurisdiction.	Ratified by 54 OSCE participating States. ² OSCE States parties to the optional protocol: 46 (as of 14 Sept. 2006) ³	http://www.un.org/womenwatch/daw/cedaw/cedaw.htm http://www.un.org/womenwatch/daw/cedaw/protocol/text.htm
United Nations Security Council Resolution 1325 on Women, Peace and Security (2000)	The Resolution addresses the disproportionate and unique impact of armed conflict on women, recognizes the under-valued and under-utilized contributions women make to conflict prevention, peacekeeping, conflict resolution and peace-building, and stresses the importance of their equal and full participation as active agents in peace and security.	Adopted by unanimity	http://www.un.org/events/res_1325e.pdf
UN Declaration on the Elimination of Violence against Women, General Assembly Resolution (1993)	Provides a clear and comprehensive definition of violence against women, a clear statement of the rights to be applied to ensure the elimination of violence against women in all its forms, a commitment by States in respect of their responsibilities, and a commitment by the international community at large to the elimination of violence against women.		http://www.unhcr.ch/huridocda/huridoca.nsf/(Symbol)/A.RES.48.104.En?Opendocument
