Open call for Thirty (30) candidates for a three-month apprenticeship programme

Background

Youth's public participation in decision-making is guaranteed and promoted through a comprehensive normative and policy framework that regulates youth empowerment and participation in Kosovo. This framework includes the Law on "Empowerment and Participation of Youth"; four Administrative Instructions (AIs); and the Youth Strategy that sets priorities and goals for the period 2019-2023.

Young people have rights and opportunities to influence decision and policy making, either directly or through existing representative bodies and civil society organizations.

Nonetheless, youth is often unable to exercise its rights and fulfill its responsibilities regarding involvement in decision-making. Reasons are two-fold: on one hand, youth may lack awareness, capabilities, knowledge, technical skills and experience required; on the other hand, there are limited opportunities provided by institutions at all levels to involve youth in decision and policy making. As a result, young people are discouraged or excluded from exercising the right to participation and become isolated from the realm of decision-making.

The OSCE promotes youth's participation in decision and policymaking processes through a hands-on participatory approach, based on the learning-by-doing principle and with the aim of equipping youth with adequate transferable skills and knowledge. The OSCE will support the organization of a three-month Apprenticeship Programme for 30 young persons between 20 and 24 years old, in co-operation with various Institutions¹. The aim of the programme is to directly involve young persons at the strategic, planning and executive level of work of major decision and policymaking institutions and acquaint them with the latter's mandate, scope of work, duties and responsibilities.

The apprentices will be placed in various offices/divisions/departments within the co-operating institutions based on their profile and interest but also in accordance with the needs and hosting capacities of the relevant institutions. Mentoring of the apprentices will be carried out by selected staff of the offices/divisions/departments within the co-operating institutions, under the overall coordination of the OSCE Public Participation Section's (PPS) project team. The apprenticeship programme will be preceded by a detailed induction training delivered jointly by the OSCE project team and the co-operating institutions' staff and will focus but will not be limited to: legal framework, consultation process during drafting of legal and sub-legal acts, review processes, monitoring and outreach, planning and programming, evaluation, research and policy papers drafting etc. A mid-programme training is also envisaged in mid-October 2021.

The apprenticeship programme will conclude with a conference, where apprentices will present what they have learned and what their contribution during their tour at their respective duty stations was.

Objective

The OSCE aims to assist thirty (30) young persons in better understanding of and acquiring experience in decision and policy making through a three-month apprenticeship programme at various institutions.

Tasks

Depending on the type of work and work plan of the co-operating institutions' Departments/Divisions/Sections where apprentices will be placed, incumbents could, inter alia, be tasked with:

- Assisting in the drafting process of legal and sub-legal acts;
- Assisting the Departments/Divisions/Sections in carrying out their advisory role and providing opinions requested by institutions;
- Supporting the Departments/Divisions/Sections in the preparation of inputs to external reports;
- Contributing to the implementation of project(s) the Departments/Divisions/Sections lead or contribute to (planning/development/implementation and/or evaluation);
- Assisting in co-ordination and co-operation with current and potential donors and partners;
- Contributing to regular internal planning, monitoring and evaluation processes;
- Providing feedback on policy proposals through concept papers and participation in relevant meetings;
- Preparing background material for internal and external meetings, participate in meetings and compile minutes;
- Conducting desk research and analysis of the programmes of the Departments/Divisions/Sections;
- Designing and proposing a regular schedule of communication with the supervisor/programme coordinator;
- Performing other duties as assigned by the supervisor/programme coordinator.
- Participating in the drafting a joint research paper, to be conducted by all apprentices, and contributing to developing a final draft by the end of November 2021.

Deliverables

- Work plan with detailed outline of tasks and responsibilities (in co-preparation with the supervisor/programme coordinator);
- Draft laws; regulations; administrative instructions to which the incumbent contributed;
- Concept and policy papers; reports prepared by the incumbent or with his/her contribution;
- Analysis and research papers; minutes drafted by the incumbent;
- Number of meetings attended and number and type of activities in which the incumbent was involved.
- Each apprentice will individually compile a report on the overall experience of attending the programme based on a template.² The apprentice's report will have to focus on his/her understanding of and impressions on policy and decision making based on his/her hands-on experience through the programme;
- At the end of the programme, apprentices will prepare joint research paper, which will be presented at the closing conference of the programme.

Performance Indicators³

The apprentice complies with the 14-day work plan per month; he/she respects working hours within the timeframe agreed with supervisor;

The apprentice demonstrates interest and commitment throughout the learning process.

By the end of the programme the apprentice is able to work in line with strategic documents and action plans of relevant institutions;

By the end of the programme the apprentice has a clear understanding of decision and policy making processes and mechanisms in relevant institutions;
