

The Special Envoys of three international organizations have made the following statement:

The Special Envoys of the UN, the EU and the OSCE in the Kyrgyz Republic express their support to the people of Kyrgyzstan at this difficult time, and stress that the preservation of national unity and the restoration of national security are of utmost importance for the stabilisation of the situation in the country. We are deeply convinced that the tradition of tolerance of the people of the Kyrgyz Republic will return the country to a peaceful development.

The Special Envoys support the efforts of the authorities and the people of the Kyrgyz Republic aimed at stabilising the situation and returning to the path of peace and democracy. The Special Envoys have jointly developed an urgent action plan, containing specific steps and areas in which the OSCE, UN and EU can support the authorities and the people of the Kyrgyz Republic in restoring public order, containing the potential spread of conflict and achieving national reconciliation, as well as economic and social rehabilitation.

At the same time the Special Envoys emphasise the importance and urgency of establishing a humanitarian corridor in the southern regions of Osh and Jalal-Abad provinces, as well as of ensuring the equitable distribution of humanitarian aid among those in need. To this end a concrete action plan has been developed, the implementation of which will help achieve the aforementioned objectives.

The Special Envoys call upon all parties concerned for restraint, reconciliation and consensus.
