1.2 What national legislation has been adopted in your State to implement the above-mentioned agreements and arrangements?

Pursuant to Article 118 of the Constitution of Republic of North Macedonia, international agreements ratified in accordance with the Constitution are a part of the internal legal order and cannot be changed by law.

The Criminal Code of the Republic of North Macedonia sanctions the following:

- Financing of terrorism (Article 394-c).

In addition to the criminal offences foreseen in the above-mentioned articles, the following criminal offences from the Criminal Code are also applied in cases of individual acts of terrorism:

- Unauthorized procurement and possession of nuclear materials (Article 231 and 394);
- Unauthorized production and release for trade of generally dangerous materials (Article 295),
- Attacking an aircraft, ship or fixed platform (Article 302);
- Endangering air traffic safety (Article 303 and 394)
- Assassination of representatives of the highest state authorities (Article 309);

- Misuse of chemical or biological weapons (Article 407-b);
- Endangering persons under international protection (Article 420), and
- Taking hostages (Article 421)

In relation to these criminal offences, the following articles of the Criminal Code may be applied: Intent (Article 13); Negligence (Article 14); Attempt (Article 19); Joint perpetration (Article 22); Conspiracy to commit a crime (Article 393) and Criminal association (Article 394).

Pursuant to the Strategy for reform of criminal legislation of 2008, amendments to the Criminal Code were adopted in 2008, 2009, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2017 and 2018.

The aim of the amendments was to implement international standards and to improve the legal framework regarding a number of issues, among which the confiscation of property and proceeds, criminal liability of legal persons, crimes of terrorism, economic crimes and cyber-crime.

In relation to the crimes of terrorism, the amendments were made primarily with the goal of harmonizing the national legislation with the following: the Convention of the Council of Europe for the Prevention of Terrorism, the Convention for the Prevention of Financing of Terrorism, the Framework Decision for fighting terrorism (2202/475/JHA) of June 13, 2002, the Framework Decision of the Council of Ministers of the European Union by 2005 and the Council Framework Decision 2005/212/JHA of February 24, 2005 for the confiscation of income, assets and property related to crime.

Specifically, the amendments further upgrade the crimes in Article 394-a: Terrorist organization and two new criminal offences were introduced: Article 394-b: Terrorism and Article 394-c: Financing of terrorism.

In accordance with article 5, 6 and 7 of the Council of Europe Convention on the Prevention of Terrorism, acts of public provocation to commit a terrorist offence, and recruitment and training for terrorism, were included within the above mention amendments: Article 394-a: Terrorist organization, Article 394-b: Terrorism and Article 394-c: Financing of terrorism.

Pursuant to the provisions (of 2009) on the confiscation of property and proceeds and the removal of objects, the “perpetrator shall be subject to confiscation of the indirect property gain, consisting of the following:

- the property into which the proceeds of crime have been transformed or converted,
- the property acquired from legitimate sources if proceeds of crime have been intermingled, fully or partially, with that property, up to the estimated value of the intermingled proceeds of crime, and,
- the income or other benefits derived from the proceeds of crime, from property into which such proceeds of crime have been transformed or converted or from property with which such proceeds of crime have been intermingled, contains the proceeds from a crime, up to the estimated value of the intermingled proceeds of crime.”

Moreover, it is provided that: “The proceeds from crime shall be also confiscated from family members of the perpetrator to whom the proceeds were transferred, if it is obvious that they did not provide compensation that corresponds to the value of the obtained proceeds or from third parties, if they fail to prove that they paid an amount corresponding to the value of the proceeds for the item or property.”

Furthermore, extended confiscation has been introduced and it has particular application to crimes related to terrorism. The provisions provide for confiscation of property which “was acquired within a certain period of time before the court conviction, which the court establishes according to the circumstances of the case, but not longer than 5 years before committing the crime, when based on all circumstances the court is reasonably convinced that the property surpasses the lawful income of the perpetrator and it originates from such an act.”

In accordance with international standards, criminal liability for legal persons was introduced in the 2008 amendments and supplements to these provisions of the Criminal Code were made with the 2009 amendments.

Namely, in accordance with Article 28-A and B, in the cases determined by law, the legal entity is responsible for the offence committed by the responsible person in the legal entity, on behalf or for the benefit of a legal person.

The legal entity is responsible for a crime committed by his employee or agent of the legal entity, which has acquired significant property benefits or has inflicted considerable damage to another, under the conditions specified in Article 28-C.

Liability of a legal person does not exclude criminal liability of a natural person as the perpetrator of the offence.

The following legislation has also been adopted in 2018 and amended in 2019: Amendments to the Law on Criminal Procedure, Law on the Interception of Communications and Law on the Prevention of Money Laundering and other Proceeds from Crime and Financing of Terrorism.

Regardless of the rank, every member of the Army has personal responsibility to comply with the law. Commanders must ensure that the law is complied with by others and must take action in case of violations. Orders issued by a superior commander are not to be carried out if their execution represents a criminal activity.

The International Humanitarian Law is a part of compulsory training and education of all military personnel regardless of the rank and position.

In addition, it should be noted that prior to each deployment of the military and civilian personnel to international peace missions, the entire personnel is trained in the area of International Humanitarian Law.

4.3 How does your State ensure that armed forces are not used to limit the peaceful and lawful exercise of human and civil rights by persons as individuals or as representatives neither of groups nor to deprive them of national, religious, cultural, linguistic or ethnic identity?

The Republic of North Macedonia ensures that Armed Forces are not used to limit the peaceful and lawful exercise of human and civil rights based on the provisions of the Constitution, the Defence Law, The Army Service Law, Defence Strategy and other relevant regulations of the Armed Forces.

In performing their duties, members of the Armed Forces may not be governed by their political beliefs nor may they express it in their work and influence others. Membership in a political party shall not influence promotion, evaluation, schooling, technical training, rewards and other rights of military and civil members working for the Armed Forces. 4.5 How does your State ensure that its Defence policy and doctrine are consistent with International law?

The alignment of the Defence policy and doctrine with international law has been ensured by incorporating provisions of international law into the national legislation.

Section III: Public access and contact information

1.1 How is the public informed about the provisions of the Code of Conduct?

There are no particular arrangements for informing the public about the provisions of the Code of Conduct.

1.2 What additional information related to the Code of Conduct, e.g., replies to the Questionnaire on the Code of Conduct, is made publicly available in your State?

See 1.3

1.3 How does your State ensure public access to information related to your State's armed forces?

The Parliament passed the Law on Free Access to Information of Public Character (Official Gazette no. 13 of 1 February 2006).

This law regulates the conditions, manner and procedure of realizing the right to free access to information of public character available from state institutions. (including the Ministry of Defence).

This law provides free availability and openness in the work of the information holders. For carrying out this law, a Commission for protection of the right for free access to information of public character has been formed.

The Commission for protection of the right for free access to information of public character publishes (to the media services) a list of holders of information of public character and of their responsible persons, once a year.

The Ministry of Defence is on the list of holders of information of public character. For this purpose, a person has been chosen, holder of information, obligated to fulfill the obligations foreseen with the law.

The interested persons for access to information of public character contact the Ministry of Defence through regular mail, electronic mail or fax.

The security aspects of the defence matters have been continually present in the public and the non-governmental sector. It is important to note the increased involvement and interest of independent experts, scientific institutions and the academic circle. This transparent approach has resulted in numerous works and publications that affirm our security policy, and especially the strategic interests of the Republic of North Macedonia for participation in the collective security systems.

The transparency and relevance of the Defence policy have also been increased through the access to the internet web page of the Ministry of Defence. The defence and security institutions provide appropriate answers to defence issues of interest to parliamentarians and other security subjects, related to the evaluation and assessment of the security and political situation in the Republic of North Macedonia. In the forthcoming period, the strategic goals incorporated in the 2018 Strategic Defence Review and 2020 Defence Strategy envisage an increased level of openness and involvement of the civilian sector in order to achieve the democratic goals of defence and security transparency and affirmation.

The concrete forms of public information are not just a constitutional and legal obligation, but they are subject of the Strategy of the Government for transparency and public relations regarding the area of security and defence. The accessibility to information and the civilian participation in the development of defence and security policy is regulated by the Classified Information Law, and under procedure is the creation and adoption of supplemental legal acts in order to create a final distinction between the classified and non-classified information, defining thus the regime of its accessibility, utilisation and transfer. The legal framework therein is the new Law on Classified Documents adopted in March 2004. The issue of information accessibility remains to be predetermined by the fulfilment of the requirements set forth in the normative acts for information accessibility to the Parliament and the public.

The activities of the Ministry of Defence in the area of public relations are directed at the national and international public and community, as well as at the employees of the Ministry of Defence and the members of the Armed Forces. The transparency of these activities bolsters the confidence in the security and Defence policy of the Republic of North Macedonia and clarifies the link between the defence subjects and their defence activities and society on the basis of the need for ensuring unhampered conditions for development and protection of the free democratic values guaranteed by the Constitution. The defence preparations, thus, make public relations important and available to the public, encouraging at the same time interest for active participation of the citizens in creation, organization, accomplishment and control of the defence tasks. On the other side, public relations activities contribute to the strengthening of the motivation and professional attitude of the Ministry of defence employees and the members of the Army of the Republic of North Macedonia within their determination towards the defence tasks.
