1003rd Plenary Meeting
PC Journal No. 1003, Agenda item 3

STATEMENT BY THE DELEGATION OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Before beginning, I must say that I found our distinguished Russian colleague's statement to be confusing, given that he started by criticizing the alleged politicization of the conversation about this agenda, then launched into a diatribe of issues that Russia has every ability to raise when it wants to – of course including at the conference – but which are not relevant to the agenda under discussion today.

We welcome today's adoption of the agenda of the Annual Security Review Conference (ASRC). Russia's ongoing violation of Ukraine's territorial integrity and sovereignty, as well as its violations of other OSCE principles and commitments, make the ASRC this year particularly relevant. We are facing an unprecedented challenge to security and stability in the OSCE region.

We especially would like to thank our Ukrainian colleagues for their constructiveness and readiness to engage in compromise to find a way forward on the ASRC agenda, particularly in light of the challenges and threats it is currently facing.

We also express our deep disappointment that a discussion on the resolution of protracted conflicts was not included on the agenda. This is regrettable.

The events in Ukraine, and the growing perception of regional instability caused by Russia's actions, make resolution of the protracted conflicts even more important to the agenda of the OSCE. We trust the Chairmanship will make every effort to ensure that an opportunity is provided to address the protracted conflicts during this event.

Thank you, Mr. Chairperson.

1003rd Plenary Meeting

PC Journal No. 1003, Agenda item 3

STATEMENT BY THE DELEGATION OF UKRAINE

Mr. Chairperson,

The delegation of Ukraine contributed significantly to reaching consensus on the agenda of this year's Annual Security Review Conference and we welcome its adoption.

This year's ASRC will be of particular relevance as it will take place against the backdrop of ongoing violations by the Russian Federation of international law and founding OSCE principles and commitments. The actions of the Russian Federation violated Ukraine's sovereignty, unity and territorial integrity, undermined the very foundation of this Organization and endangered peace and stability across the OSCE space.

The delegation of Ukraine hopes that the ASRC will help chart the way to renewal of implementation of OSCE principles and commitments by the Russian Federation.

The delegation of Ukraine requests that this statement be attached to the journal of the day.

Thank you, Mr. Chairperson.

ORGANIZATIONAL MODALITIES OF THE 2014 ANNUAL SECURITY REVIEW CONFERENCE

Vienna, 24–26 June 2014

Background

The Tenth Meeting of the OSCE Ministerial Council, at Porto, by adopting its Decision No.3, dated 7 December 2002, established the Annual Security Review Conference (ASRC) to provide a framework for enhancing security dialogue and for reviewing security work undertaken by the OSCE and its participating States, to provide an opportunity to exchange views on issues related to arms control and confidence- and security-building measures, and to promote the exchange of information and co-operation with relevant international and regional organizations and institutions.

Organization

A representative of the Chairperson-in-Office will chair the opening and closing sessions. The Secretariat will issue a journal of the Conference.

Each working session will have one moderator and one rapporteur. The Conflict Prevention Centre (CPC) will serve as co-ordinator for preparing the sessions.

The contribution of the Forum for Security Co-operation (FSC) will be made in accordance with its procedures, mandate and competences. The FSC contribution to the ASRC includes the chairing of the third working session by a member of the FSC Troika or the Director of the CPC.

The Rules of Procedure of the OSCE will be followed, mutatis mutandis, at the Conference. Also, the guidelines for organizing OSCE meetings (Permanent Council Decision No. 762) will be taken into account.

Interpretation from and into all six working languages of the OSCE will be provided at the opening, working and closing sessions.

The Chairmanship will co-ordinate the preparation of the ASRC with the FSC Chairperson and the OSCE Secretariat.

The Chairperson-in-Office will distribute a comprehensive report on the Conference before the summer recess.

The Press and Public Information Section (PPIS) will inform the press, as appropriate.

Participation

The participating States are encouraged to be represented at a high level, by senior officials from capitals, responsible for security-related policy in the OSCE area.

The OSCE institutions will participate in the Conference, as will the Secretary General and the CPC. The OSCE Parliamentary Assembly and the Partners for Co-operation will be invited to participate.

The Chairmanship may also invite some heads of OSCE field operations to participate in the Conference. Consideration should be given to the possibility of inviting heads of field operations to be present as keynote speakers or moderators.

The international organizations that may be invited are the security-related organizations mentioned in Permanent Council Decision No. 951 of 29 July 2010.

Consideration is to be given to the possibility of inviting security-related scientific institutes, think tanks of international standing, and NGOs to send keynote speakers, moderators or to be represented as members of national delegations.

General guidelines for participants

The work of the ASRC will be conducted in seven sessions. The opening session is intended to provide an opportunity for formal statements to be delivered and to set the stage for substantive, focused and interactive discussions at the working sessions. The opening session will include the welcoming remarks by the Chairperson-in-Office or his representative and the report by the FSC Chairperson. The Chairmanship will explore the possibility of inviting high-level special guest(s) to address the Conference.

The four working sessions and the special session will each concentrate on a different topic, introduced by up to two keynote speakers, whose addresses will be followed by a discussion of relevant topics that are mentioned in the agenda.

The aim is an interactive and free-flowing discussion.

In order to reinforce the effectiveness of security activities across all three dimensions of the OSCE, it is expected that, at each of the sessions, the interfaces of security, and also the question of co-operation with other international and regional organizations, will be addressed.

To promote interactive discussion, the formal statements at the opening session and the interventions at the working sessions should be as concise as possible and should not exceed five minutes in length. Moderators are encouraged to apply these time limits. Prior circulation of statements and interventions will enhance the possibility for engaging in discussion.

By 10 June 2014, the participants in the Conference should inform the OSCE Secretariat of the composition of their delegations to the ASRC, in response to the information circular regarding organizational aspects of the Conference which will be sent out by the OSCE Secretariat.

By 10 June 2014, the participating States and other participants in the Conference are invited to submit any written contributions they may have, including those that contain reactions to the keynote speeches.

Written contributions should be submitted to Conference Services, which will then distribute them. The information could also include contributions from OSCE institutions and other international organizations, if appropriate.

Guidelines for keynote speakers

The contributions of the keynote speakers should be focused on the subject of the relevant session, thus setting the scene for the discussion at the sessions, and should stimulate debate among delegations by raising appropriate questions and suggesting potential recommendations based on OSCE realities.

The maximum available speaking time is 20 minutes per keynote speaker.

Keynote speakers should be present during the entire session at which they are speaking, and should be ready to engage in the debate following their presentation.

To enable delegations to prepare themselves, keynote speakers should provide a written contribution and their biographical synopsis to the CPC by 10 June 2014. In their presentations, keynote speakers should touch on the highlights of their written contribution.

Guidelines for moderators and rapporteurs

The moderator chairs the session and should facilitate and focus the dialogue among delegations. The moderator should stimulate the debate by introducing items related to the subject of the opening and working sessions, as appropriate, in order to broaden or focus the scope of the discussion. When appropriate, moderators may call on speakers to facilitate a genuine discussion.

The rapporteurs' written reports should address issues raised during the relevant sessions, and should cover problem areas, improvements, suggestions made at the session, and other relevant information. Personal views shall not be advanced.

Moderators and rapporteurs should seek to identify and summarise specific recommendations made in each of the sessions.

Guidelines for the participation of other international organizations

International organizations may participate in all the sessions. They are invited to concentrate their contributions on aspects of co-operation with the OSCE within the scope of the relevant session.

International and regional organizations should provide factual information, useful for the participants of the ASRC, to Conference Services by 10 June 2014.

INTERPRETATIVE STATEMENT UNDER PARAGRAPH IV.1(A)6 OF THE RULES OF PROCEDURE
OF THE ORGANIZATION FOR SECURITY AND CO-OPERATION IN EUROPE

By the delegation of the Russian Federation:

“Having joined the consensus on the Permanent Council decision on the agenda of the Annual Security Review Conference (ASRC), we take the position that when considering the situation in Ukraine during the special session of the Conference the topic should be, first and foremost, the OSCE’s assistance in the settlement of the internal Ukrainian conflict.

All things considered, the Russian Federation is indignant at the “petty haggling” by individual OSCE States surrounding the agreement on the agenda for the 2014 ASRC. They attempted to push through wording to the effect that the responsibility for the tragedy occurring in Ukraine lies with Russia.

Yet it is the current Ukrainian authorities who are in fact flouting all the international principles and commitments. The civil war unleashed by Kyiv has already led to the loss of many lives. Hospitals, schools and homes are being fired at by artillery, tanks and combat aircraft. Access to humanitarian assistance is blocked. Civilians have been deprived of the opportunity to escape from besieged towns. These are the issues that should be discussed at the upcoming ASRC.

During the “Ukrainian” special session and the working sessions we shall raise the subject of the crimes of the Kyiv regime as well as other problems touching on European security.

We request that this statement be appended to the decision adopted by the Permanent Council and included in the journal of the day.”
