OSCE Permanent Council No. 809
Vienna, 13th May 2010*EU statement on the death penalty in the United States

The EU is of the firm view that states which have not as yet abolished the use of capital punishment should not impose this punishment when a de facto moratorium has been in place for an extended period.

It is therefore with deep regret that the EU has learned that an execution is set to be carried out in the State of Utah on 18 June 2010. The execution of Mr. Ronnie Lee Gardner would break the de facto moratorium in the State of Utah, where the last execution took place in October 1999.

The European Union reiterates its longstanding position on the use of death penalty. We oppose the use of capital punishment in all cases and under all circumstances and have consistently called for its universal abolition. The EU recalls the resolution adopted by the United Nations General Assembly on 18 December 2008 that reaffirms its resolution adopted in December 2007, which expressly calls upon all states that still maintain the death penalty to establish a moratorium as a first step towards abolishing the death penalty.

While we are aware of the suffering of the victims of violent crime and their families, we recall that with capital punishment, any miscarriage of justice from which no legal system is immune, represents an irreversible loss of human life. The EU believes that the abolition of the death penalty is essential to protect human dignity and to the progressive development of human rights. The EU considers capital punishment cruel and inhuman. Furthermore, it has not been found to act as a deterrent. While the EU fully respects the democratic process of other countries, the concern for human integrity and human dignity, which has inspired us to abolish capital punishment, obviously applies to all human beings.

Taking account of these factors, the EU calls upon the Utah Board of Pardons and Parole to continue the moratorium on executions and urges them to grant Mr. Ronnie Lee Gardner relief from the death penalty.

The EU trusts that the Government of the United States of America will ensure that the appropriate authorities in the State of Utah will be informed of this statement.
