What is the OSCE?

The OSCE stands for the Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe. With 57 States from Europe, Central Asia and North America, the OSCE is the world's largest regional security organization and works in three “dimensions”: the politico-military; the economic and environmental; and the human dimension.

The OSCE Mission to Moldova engages in a range of activities designed to empower Moldovan youth to enhance their capacity and interest in engaging in national democratic processes.
