

Recommendation

HUMAN RIGHTS, DEMOCRACY AND RELIGION

The struggle for human rights is a vital contribution to the development of democracy, but human rights are threatened by governments that give a privileged position to religious bodies and base legislation on religious morality and rules.

We therefore call on OSCE ODIHR to report on the extent to which these practices are found in member states.

Proposed by the European Humanist Federation