Ukraine's strike on passenger train in Crimea complicates peace negotiations – Kremlin

Dmitry Peskov emphasized that the strike was a criminal action by the Kiev regime

MOSCOW, June 8. /TASS/. Ukraine's attack on a passenger train in the Republic of Crimea significantly complicates all efforts aimed at the peaceful settlement of the ongoing Ukrainian conflict, Russian Presidential Spokesman Dmitry Peskov said on Monday.

"The most important here is what you have exactly mentioned and it was a strike on a passenger train," Peskov said at a news briefing. "It was a criminal action by the Kiev regime. Such actions significantly complicate any further attempts to move towards a peaceful settlement."

Head of the Republic of Crimea Sergey Aksyonov reported earlier in the day that one person was killed and another one sustained wounds after a Ukrainian UAV attack on a passenger train en-route from Simferopol to Moscow.

Foreign Ministry Spokeswoman Maria Zakharova's comment on Ukraine attacking passenger trains in Crimea

918-08-06-2026

Faced with another string of battlefield failures and territorial losses, the neo-Nazi Kiev regime continues to perpetrate terrorist crimes against Russian civilians amid demagogic rhetoric by Zelensky during his foreign tours and in open letters which imply his alleged commitment to peace.

In the early hours of June 8, Ukrainian UAVs attacked the locomotive of the Moscow-Simferopol passenger train in the Republic of Crimea killing the assistant train driver and injuring the driver. The train was operating as a civilian passenger service, with no confirmed evidence of military affiliation. The evacuated passengers were bussed to their destinations.

Crimean Governor Sergey Aksyonov reported that the Ukrainian strike killed the driver's assistant and injured the driver.
